Cleaning Tools – Visualization, Plant/Tree

The following cleaning tools are literally connected and grow from our mother Earth. These plants and tree are connected deeply to our ancestry.

They provide constant cleaning for us every day.

When you encounter any of the following, remind yourself that you are on sacred ground, because the area in which these cleaning tools are planted is constantly being cleaned.

This creates a wonderful opportunity to connect to the Divine and return to the zero state.

Bottle Palm, Double Yellow Hibiscus

Bottle palm – The bottled palm, Hyophorbe Lagenicaulis, cleans on your memories and transmutes them into a pure energy in the palm.

This plant literally holds the energy inside of itself and then dispenses it as necessary.

One of the wonderful things about this cleaning tool is that it can be planted in the ground or in a pot.

If you choose to use it in a pot, it is best to place it somewhere close to the front door. This allows the palm to absorb unwanted memories as they enter your dwelling.

Double yellow hibiscus – The double yellow hibiscus focuses on erasing memory/data that contains issues with addiction of all kinds.

Much like the bottled palm, it can be both planted in the ground or in a pot.

If you are choosing a pot, it is most effective when placed near the entrance of your office, apartment or home.

Wild Irish Rose

The Wild Irish Rose is a flower of love. It creates an invisible bridge from wherever it is planted directly to Ireland; this bridge then connects to all other continents.

The bridge is connecting on a spiritual level transcending all time. It gives us a connection to the memories of our ancestors and our heritage that still need cleaning.

Much like the bottled palm, and the Wild Irish Rose can be both planted in the ground or in a pot.

If you are choosing a pot, it is most effective when placed near the entrance of your office, apartment or home.

Redwoods

Redwood trees are referred to as “the tree of the Divine.”

These trees contain the map to our very existence, a flowing pattern that is the basis of all spirituality.

Physically touching a redwood tree brings guidance to our spiritual journey. It simplifies the path, showing us the way back to zero.

Although this list is short, these are the main cleaning tools in plant/tree form at this time. As always, others will be revealed to us by the Divine as we continue to open ourselves up to its inspiration.
